WASHINGTON, May 6—Hot and uncomfortable in Washington, physically and mentally. Everybody is disgusted with everybody else and finds some one to blame for lack of effective action.

Democrats came marching back from the elections in 1932 and said:
"We have the House in our control, now watch us save the country."

The nation watched, and thus far, has seen nothing. You would not call it a mountain in labor, giving birth to a mouse, but rather two mountains, House and Senate, giving birth to a microbe.

Americans would not have been edified could they have seen and understood the proceedings in the House galleries and lobbies a couple of nights ago, when the attempt to reach an economy program was kicked to pieces.

There were hundreds of lobbyists, able, "hard boiled," sending for their congressmen, laying down the law, telling the representatives what would happen to them, at home, if they did not obey orders.

Many of them obeyed.

Under Gen. Grant's portrait that hangs above the fireplace in the White House Red Room you read: "Ulysses S. Grant, of Illinois, Eighteenth President, March 4th, 1869, to March 4th, 1877."

Grant is shown in his army uniform, his full beard neglected. His face looks tired, but he can stand his line as he is set in 1932. Looking down from the place to which good soldiers go, he must wonder how anyone can live in this political miasma.

Washington's big news today is the Garner victory in California that changes completely the Democratic battle. Opponents of Governor Roosevelt have, already, enough votes to prevent his nomination by a two-thirds vote. Some think there will be a stampede for him when the convention opens, but they forget that political control in New York, New Jersey, Illinois and Massachusetts is against him.

Leaders in those states are not a kind easily stampeded. Already, some are "climbing down from the Roosevelt bandwagon, fearing it will never start."

Admirers of Speaker Garner say he must be the compromise candidate. Others, professing infinite knowledge, say, "No, the plan is to nominate Owen D. Young, and it will go through."

Washington's sensational news is the arrest of Gaston S. Means, on complaint of Mrs. Evelyn McLean, wife of the Washington Post's owner. Mrs. McLean says she gave Means $100,000 upon his promise to recover the Lindbergh baby by use of the money. Her complaint alleges that he did not produce the baby, or return the $100,000.

There is no knowing what has been, and may be, paid in efforts to recover the lost child.

Defeat of the plan to put government employees on a five-day week, pleasing temporarily to employers, may have prevented the inauguration of a most important experiment. The plan was to pay for five days during the emergency period, and thereafter to give a full week's pay for five days, the government showing the way to industry as a whole.

Those that know predict the discharge of 100,000 public employees, beginning July 1, that happens, increasing the number of unemployed here by 100,000, it will prove a greater disaster than temporary reductions of income by one-half.

Senator Borah, who does not seem to worry about "approval of the folks back home," has a three-fold plan to save the country. First, he will get it in the Senate today, in these words:

"Unless armaments are reduced, so that burden is lifted; unless repudiation is settled; unless Europe can start on economic recovery; and unless silver is restored to the place it occupied prior to 1932 to re-establish the purchasing power of one-half the world, there will not, in my judgment, be any ready return to prosperity."

The masses, everywhere, says Senator Borah, are becoming restless. He thinks they must "get rid of this gold malediction."

Senator Borah's references to gold were applauded, also his statement, "I do not believe we can restore better conditions in this country by increasing taxes."

The dreaded word "revolutions" has been used in respect to this country by increasing vociferation, crops up everywhere.

ASSASSIN'S BULLETS LAY LOW PRESIDENT OF FRANCE

PRESIDENT DOUMER WHEN DOUMER ASSUMED OFFICE OF PRESIDENT

President Paul Doumer, who was shot to death in Paris, shown with the then Premier, Pierre Laval, in the automobile leaving the Elysee Palace on June 13 just after Doumer had been inaugurated as president of the French Republic. All Europe seethed today following the news of the shooting, and memory harked back to the famous Sarajevo killing in 1914, which plunged the world into war.

N. Y. Cunard Line Pier Swept by Fire; 20 Hurt

New York, May 6 (AP)—Fire swept Pier 64 on the Hudson river, the foot of 13th st. today and 20 firemen were injured battling the flames.

The pier, one of the largest in the city, berths the Cunard liners Aquitania and Mauretania. As Cunard line officials expressed the fear of collapse, hurried orders were given to the crew of the liner California, docked at Pier 36, just north, to make ready to be pulled away.

Five fire alarms were sounded and fireboats and equipment co-operated to check the blaze. The pier extends a thousand feet into the Hudson river. While it is chiefly built of steel and concrete, it rests upon wooden pilings which is soaked with creosote to prevent rotting by salt water. The flames ate into the pilings. The intense heat broke windows in the adjacent piers.

The burned pier was valued at $2,000,000. The city smoke clocked the district of the fire in darkness relieved only by the light from the burning pier. Flames in many instances spouting 50 feet in the air. The firemen were mostly victims of the dense smoke.

Fireboats concentrated on raising a wall of water between the burning pier and the office building at its landward end, but the flames leaped directly through the deluge and set fire to the concrete structure.

FORMER BANKER WINTHROP DIES

Frederick Winthrop, former Boston banker, a direct descendant of John Winthrop, first Governor of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, and a brother of Beakman Winthrop, former Assistant Secretary of the Navy, died today in his home, 298 Berkeley st., following a long illness.

Until his retirement, he was for many years connected in Boston with the firm of Robert Winthrop & Co., with New York offices at 45 Wall st. His brother, Beakman Winthrop of Westbury, N. Y., is now senior partner.

Mr. Winthrop was born in New York in 1865 and was graduated in 1881 from Harvard, where he was active in rowing and other sports.

In January, 1903, he was married to Miss Dorothy Amory, daughter of Charles W. Amory of Boston. She died following injuries received when thrown from a horse. He was married again in July, 1911, to Miss Sarah B. Thayer, daughter of the late Nathaniel Thayer, and she survives.

By each marriage there were three children.

New York, May 6—Wall Street received considerable encouragement today from the renewed efforts in Washington to balance the federal budget, and the unfavorable report of the House Ways and Means Committee on the bonus bill.

Grand Jury Will Probe Malden Rum 'Frameup'

A special session of Middlesex County grand jury Monday will investigate operations of the Malden police liquor squad, headed by Serge Joseph R. Henry, Dist. Atty. Bishop announced today.

The investigation is the outgrowth of a charge against Henry that he had "framed" and then charged Harry Winer, a Malden restaurant owner, with violation of the liquor laws.

This charge was made on the witness stand in Middlesex Superior Court by Daniel J. Morrison, a liquor "spotter" used by Serge. The investigation is the outgrowth of a charge against Henry that he had "framed" and then charged Harry Winer, a Malden restaurant owner, with violation of the liquor laws.

WITNESSES CALLED Morrison's testimony was for some a directed verdict by Judge George James.

Dist. Atty. Bishop then launched a probe of the activities of the Malden liquor squad. Morrison was arrested on charges of perjury and made, and at the Malden court house examining records of cases that Serge Henry has handled in the Malden court.

Case in the Middlesex Superior Court in which Henry appeared will also be used in the probe.

DOUMER HIT 2 TIMES BY RUSSIAN'S BULLETS

Desperate Battle on to Save France's Leader; Two Others Were Wounded by Anti-Rad

Paris, May 6 (AP)—At Beaugrenier Hospital this statement was issued at 5:30 o'clock tonight:
"The President was struck twice by bullets, once at the base of the cranium and the other just under the right shoulderblade."
"There was extensive hemorrhage and a pronounced state of shock."
"Two transfusions have been made."
"The situation is very grave."
It was signed by nine doctors.

Paris, May 6—A Russian Cosack doctor, enraged at France's alleged sympathy with Soviet Russia, this afternoon shot and desperately wounded President Paul Doumer, white-headed 74-year-old head of the French Republic.

The Russian was shot in head and shoulder. "Die for the fatherland" he cried.

The President was shot as he was opening an exhibition of books of war veterans in the home of Baron de Rothschild. Two other notables with him were slightly wounded.

Tranquillizing and Blood Transfusions Used Surgeons today were staging a desperate battle to save Doumer. Reports persisted that he had died. One such report was issued by the prefecture of police.

Dr. Gosset, one of the attending surgeons, performed a tranquillizing operation on President Doumer.

BONUS BILL IS KILLED, 15 TO 10

Washington, May 6 (AP)—All plans for cashing of the $2,000,000,000 soldiers' bonus were rejected today by the House ways and means committee on a 15 to 10 vote.

The committee further voted to report the new money bill to the House adverse.

STOCKS GAIN $1 TO $3 A SHARE

New York, May 6—Wall Street received considerable encouragement today from the renewed efforts in Washington to balance the federal budget, and the unfavorable report of the House Ways and Means Committee on the bonus bill.

Numerous leaders pushed up 1 to 3 points in the early dealings, then slipped back, only to resume their advance before midday. By early afternoon there were numerous leaders up 1 to more than 3 points. Trading quickened on the advance.

MALL FIGHT, CRIES HEROIC VICTIM OF ASSASSIN

LOSE BLOOD TRANSFUSIONS IN BATTLE TO SAVE DOUMER

Doumer shortly before 6 o'clock this evening. It was announced afterward there still was some hope the President might recover.

At 5:20 o'clock this evening, President Doumer underwent a second blood transfusion. The doctors at that time, it was said, appeared uncertain as to his chances for recovery.

Assassin Leaps Close to Shoot President

The President had come from the Ellysée Palace with Claude Farrere, the noted author. Together they entered the grand hall of the Baron de Rothschild Foundation near the palace.

Farrere walked with him up the grand staircase where the president paused to sign a copy of a book by a contemporary author.

Then he moved over to a bullet struck Guichard in the arm. By this time a dozen police surrounded the man and a crowd gathered about them.

As the crowd grew it became an infuriated mob. The police had the greatest difficulty protecting their prisoner.

At last they got him away.

At police headquarters the doctor who was Paul Goussier, a Russian physician.

They had no idea of his motive, but someone heard him shout as he fled:

"Die for the fatherland."

Meanwhile, back in the exhibition room, Farrere and others bent over the president.

He already was nearly unconscious, but he mumbled a few incoherent words as they lifted him on a stretcher and carried him to the Beauguon Hospital.

The doctors there performed an operation immediately and there was a blood transfusion.

First Reported Dead, Then Hope Is Revived

It was impossible at this stage of the developments to get all the facts straight, but there were reports that the President had died; that he was dead; and that his wounds were not so serious as had been thought at first.

One person who was among the first to reach the President's side said afterward he had heard M. Doumer whisper:

"Pas possible."

In English, it would be: "This seems impossible."

From police headquarters came word that when they searched the assassin they found in his pocket a notebook with the phrase inscribed in pencil in letters an inch high:

"This day killed the President of the French Republic."

President André Tardieu, the first man to reach the hospital after the news had gone out, said that he had seen the assassin's face and that he was a Frenchman.

Wife Grief-Stricken, Gave 4 Sons to War

Mrs. Doumer, who gave her four sons to France in the war, was grief-stricken when she reached the bedside.

One evening when she was on a crowd pressed about the hospital she was told that the assassin had been killed.

The doctors disclosed that the emergency operation, the patient had rallied slightly.

"Ca va," he murmured, the doctors said.

That means, "I'm alright."

The police learned from Goussier that he had come to Paris from Monaco on Wednesday night, apparently to kill the President.

Born a Cossack, Is Believed Demented

He was born a Cossack, he told them, and two years ago married a girl who called the Society of Russian Fascists.

At about President Doumer, he confessed, he wanted to serve in Russia against the Bolsheviks.

This evening the Ministry of the Interior issued this statement:

U. S. Ambassador Calls at Hospital

The president was visited by President Doumer, during a visit to an exhibition by war veteran writers, the victim of an attempt on his life by a Russian anarchist who appears to be not in full possession of his faculties.

The president was struck by a bullet in the head and another in the shoulder, which caused a flesh wound. He was taken to Beauguon Hospital, where he received the attentive care of leading surgeons.

Doumer Rose to Heights from Humblest of Beginnings

Son of a humble railway worker, orphaned at an early age, self-educated after a fierce struggle, Paul Doumer at 74 was elected the 12th president of the Third French Republic by the National Assembly sitting at Versailles, May 13, 1931.

His colleagues of a century ago, former colleagues of the chamber of deputies, who composed the electoral body, reflected the white-headed, austere old gentleman in the more famous and elegant former minister, Aristide Briand.

It was the second time that Doumer had been a candidate for the Presidency. In 1906, when he was president of the chamber of deputies, he ran against Armand Fallières, then president of the senate and a quarter of a century thereafter, having succeeded Fallières to the senate presidency, he secured office as president of the senate. Doumer attained his ambition.

His induction into the presidency crowned a career that he had spent in the efforts of the son of a section boss on a railway to get a university education.

BORN IN POVERTY

He was born into poverty, which became real poverty when his father died while the future President was still in grade school.

The widowed mother managed to keep him there until he was 16, when he got a job as apprentice to an engraver. He studied at night, won his education and became a school teacher.

A murder committed several years ago in Portland, Me., and for which his son is wanted, caused the appearance in municipal court today of Joseph L. Lodi of Decatur, Ga., and Miss Angie Tempera, 35 of Bowdoin St., West.

The case was continued for trial on May 8.

Dozen Ways to Give Real N. E. Welcome

There are an even dozen ways to welcome visitors to your community, the New England Council weekly letter announced today.

"Feature New England customs in restaurants; treat the visitor as both guest and guest of your community; we'll do it; the visitor; give a good impression of your community; be courteous; make it easy for the visitor to go where he wants; give him a chance to buy; treat him fairly; tell him what he wants to know; be cheerful to him; advertise recreation; waves and give him real New England."

The letter pointed out that communities can well prosper through the number of summer visitors attracted by New England scenery.

MASSIE TO REMAIN

Officials Desire Her Testimony as Key Witness at Retrial of Attackers

Honolulu, May 6.—Lieut. Thomas H. Massie's wife Thalia is now the center of interest in the famous "honon" slaying case.

Atty-Gen. Hewitt indicated today an effort would be made to induce Mrs. Massie to stay here to testify against four men in their second trial on charges of having attacked her. Their first trial, with the Hawaiian who was slain by Lieut. Massie, resulted in a jury disagreement.

Hewitt said the territory was anxious to try the other four men again, but that if Mrs. Massie left the islands there could be no case against them as she is the key witness.

MAY NOT SEEK PARDON

When her husband was transferred to another assignment, Mrs. Massie and her mother, Mrs. Frances, have booked passage on the Maalo, which sails Sunday.

Massie, his mother-in-law and the two naval suitmen, convicted of the slaying today, the day after the advice of Clarence Darrow, their adviser and defender, they would discuss their efforts to obtain a pardon.

DARROW TO SEEK JUDG

When the defense counsel asked Governor Judd to pardon the convicted slayers, the Hawaiian newspaperman had "misunderstood" a statement in which he said they ought to have a full trial.

While saying he was inclined to permit the matter to drop, the Chicago criminal lawyer has made an appointment with Governor Judd for Saturday to discuss the subject further.

MILLS OPPOSES TAX PROGRAM

Washington, May 6 (AP)—Secretary Mills proposed a compromise tax program today to the Senate finance committee.

The secretary appeared before the committee in executive session after conferring first with the Republican members in a closed meeting.

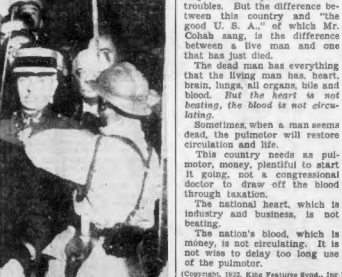

Mills' exact contributions were not made public, but he voiced particular objection to the added rate of 1 1/2 per cent voted by the committee on consolidated corporation returns. He also looked disapprovingly on the high income, corporation and inheritance taxes.

In place of these he suggested a broader spread of the excise rate to include a gasoline and a higher automobile tax.

15 RESCUED AS GLOUCESTER SHIP BURNS

Schooner Herbert Parker, Abaze From Stem to Stern, Is Abandoned Off Jersey

Abaze from bow to stern, the Gloucester fishing schooner Herbert Parker was abandoned by her crew 100 miles off the New Jersey coast today as the Coast Guard cutter Reliance sped to her rescue.

Reaching the scene, the Reliance picked up the captain and crew of 14 and was standing by when flames reached the gasoline tank. The explosion split the vessel and the two sections were run by gunfire from the cutter's guns.

The schooner was valued at $10,000 and was 100 feet long. It was Gloucester April 10 for the southern mackerel grounds in command of Capt. Wallace Parson, who is widely known as a racing skipper.

The crew consisted of Capt. Parson, the United States Fishery, and Capt. Joseph Mesquite, jointly.

The Herbert Parker was one of the Gloucester boats called for help in 24 hours.

The captain and crew of the Amelia M. Prentiss, which had caught fire in Long Island Sound were rescued from their lifeboat by the Fall River liner Plymouth on the early today.

The Elvira Gaska was taken in tow early today by the Coast Guard patrol boat 131 off Folklift light.

The disabled fishing boat was being taken to Gloucester.

RESCUED FROM DEATH

The rescued crew of the Prentiss, passing through Boston on their way to Gloucester, told a thrilling story.

Fire broke out after they were nearing home after a six months' fishing cruise. The lifeboat was launched under precarious conditions while the vessel was making nine knots before the wind.

Edmund Silver, chief engineer, was thrown into the water and rescued by his shipmate, Capt. Robinson of the Fall River liner. The rescued crew told a thrilling story.

PRISONER GETS TASTE OF LIFE, SOBS FOR KIN

She Doesn't Know Who She Is or When She Came, but She Longs for Relatives

With her supposed mother unclaimed on a Southern mortuary death slab, a 13-year-old girl—who believes she is Louise Bradley—tried in vain today to pierce her mysterious past.

She is "the little girl who never went to school."

Louise was taken from a dingy house in Davis st., South End, where Mrs. Edith Bradley had kept her locked in ever since she can remember.

Today she gained the outside world, the first she had heard of only through the means of an obnoxious old man of the crystal variety, when Mrs. Bradley was found dead three months ago.

Today she saw her first talking, had tea cream for the second time in her life, and exhibited her "education" by writing the word "Louise" for a Boston Evening American reporter.

Raps were held out, and then partly shattered today, that the girl might learn her identity—that she might know whether she Louise Bradley or someone else.

DO NOT KNOW HER

The hope came through a worker of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, who found two Bradley sisters in Winchendon believed to be of the same family.

But they, too, said they never remembered their mother. They couldn't tell from the lifeless body whether or not they were kin to the mystery girl.

Louise presented one of the strangest cases ever brought to the attention of the child society, officials said.

Locked in her room by day, allowed to play but a few times in the evening, the girl was kept constantly under the surveillance of the woman she knew as her mother.

A blackboard was nailed to the wall of her room. It was there she was told to write.

Officials found she knew no more than the one word "Louise," however.

SOBS OVER MEMORIES

But that dingy room was home to the mystery girl today. Her mother and Miss Friedman of the society, the child visited there and immediately burst into tears at the "ever so humble" memories.

"This where I listened to radio programs," she said. "This where I sat on during the days, ever came in. I just wanted for Mother to come home."

"Hitting me, sobbing, the mystery girl told her story. She let me see alone a little while," she asked as she shed a bed of tears of the woman she knew as her mother. She stayed alone and cried alone.

"Oh, why did my mother let me more about herself? She told me she was a woman who was loved her, but she never told me her name."

Her visit over the girl was taken to the Modern Theater as guest of Manager Tom Wall.

The blasted hopes from Winchendon have been shattered with the woman's identity. If the body is found, she will be buried in Potter's Field, they said.

Records were still turned today in the hopes that some inkling of the woman's true identity may be revealed.

"She has seen one alien piece but never knew a fellow," she said. "I don't remember anyone else but never knew a fellow."

SHE LONGS FOR KIN

"When mother went out I couldn't go out."

RADIO ONLY JOY

When "Louise Bradley"—or somebody else, she doesn't know—sat today in the humble surroundings of the "home" in Davis st., South End, that had been virtually her prison for years, she wept, undaunted and unhindered. The place had been the only "home" this girl of 13 had ever known, and there she was the only woman she had ever known.

LADY HUNTERS START 7TH TRY

Norfolk, Va., May 6 (CNS)—For the seventh time today negotiators here seeking recovery of the kidnapped Lindbergh baby planned a rendezvous at sea with the men they believe to be the kidnappers. The sixth unsuccessful effort to contact the men ended late last night. The seventh was timed to start before noon today.

Failure has visibly shaken the faith of the negotiators, but they continued their work undaunted. They will keep on until the last thread of hope is broken.

Capt. Frank H. Lackmann of the yacht Maroon, which the negotiators have been using for their trips to sea to meet the kidnappers, was as enthusiastic as ever, but the negotiators themselves appeared weary of their fruitless voyages.

There was no sign of John Hughes Curtis, chief of the Norfolk negotiators. The Maroon docked at the naval base and soon afterward Lackmann was with his wife here. A call at the home of Curtis where his wife is actually ill, revealed no sign of the chief negotiator.

The negotiators on the Maroon with Curtis were Edwin E. Bruce, retired Signal (U.S.) major, and Lieut. George L. Richard, navy aviator who piloted Curtis on his many airplane flights in connection with the negotiations.

Reports that Col. Lindbergh was aboard the Maroon were still unconfirmed. Absence of the fleet from Hagerud (N.J.) harbor, left little doubt, however, that he is working with the Norfolk negotiators.

'PLATONIC FRIENDSHIP' SUIT

The entire of true love for the former Mrs. Mary E. Lema, 31, of South Boston, who signed to New York with her stepson, Joseph E. Lema, 21, won't be smooth at all when she returns home for police today were searching for her child and her mother declared she will ask for a warrant.

Police sought the four young children because Mrs. Lema, slim and attractive blonde, spirited them out of their home in West Thirtieth st. while they were under quarantine with chickenpox.

The indignant mother, Mrs. Bridget McDonough, who lives in the same house, declared she will seek a warrant against her eloping daughter for the same reason.

"I am very angry over the actions of Mary," said Mrs. McDonough, "she should be arrested immediately for taking those poor children out of their home when they are sick."

Mrs. McDonough told police she believed the mother of the four children left them at the home of a girl friend, Mary Lyons, who lives somewhere in Charlestown.

The children are Mary, 2; Peter, 3; Raymond, 4; and John, who will be 6 years old on May 13.

"It was discovered today by Mrs. McDonough that the eloping daughter had taken from her closets and bureau nearly all her clothing, although when she left the house Wednesday night, saying she was going to visit a friend in Charlestown, she had with her only a small suitcase."

It is believed that Mary smuggled the clothing out in small lots over a number of nights and had secreted them somewhere.

Police Get Last Laugh on Michael

Cambridge police had the last laugh on Michael Spartachian, 24, of Raymond st., Cambridge, today, even if they had to wait two months.

ATTRACTED BY GENEROSITY IN WELFARE

City Will Attempt to Collect From Communities Where Beneficiaries Reside

Boston's huge public welfare expenditures are being swelled through aid given outsiders, attracted to the city because of its more generous allowances.

Approximately $1,000,000 is owed Boston by other communities, a large part of which will be collected.

These facts were placed before Governor Ely and the Legislature today by the Boston Finance Commission in a special report urging fast action of Mayor Curley's bill reorganizing the Public Welfare Department.

Under the mayor's bill the present unpaid Board of Overseers would be replaced by a single commissioner with a salary of $7,500 a year and an unpaid advisory board of 10 members.

The investigators' report stated, "found evidence that Boston generosity in granting aid is attracting persons from other cities and Boston is content to give its generous aid and later try to collect from the cities and towns which set lower limits to the aid they will give."

"Boston now has accounts totaling approximately $1,000,000 against other municipalities, many of which will be collected by these other municipalities."

The commission held that "these debts" could all be corrected with resultant benefit to the city, if its authority and responsibility were definitely fixed to a single commissioner who could give his whole time to the job.

Man Confesses to Middlesex Breaks

Admitting he had been drunk and irresponsible in four breaks and unsuccessful in four others, in Middlesex County and that he was a former inmate of a New Jersey reformatory, Claude W. Green today paid $500 on charges of breaking and entering by Judge Stone in Cambridge court today.

Glenn was arrested in Arlington last early today after he is said to have entered a store through a rear window.

BACKS $7500 ALIMONY

EVELYN DENSTEN

MRS. DENSTEN JACQUELINE DENSTEN

Mrs. Elizabeth Densten is waging a battle in the Salem Court against a reduction in alimony. Evidence to indicate that John J. Densten, of Peabody and Philadelphia, allowed his wife's home to be broken up by a beautiful housekeeper has been submitted. Rose tinted bath rooms and long trips for and with the former housekeeper are some of the charges made by Mrs. Densten. Densten is now paying $7500 per year for the support of his wife and twin daughters, Evelyn and Jacqueline, shown above, as they left Salem Court. (Staff Photos.)

Bridge Contract Let

Coleman Brothers were today awarded a contract for the rebuilding of Arlington at bridge, South End, as a cost of $42,002 by Mayor Curley.

Junior Week Opens

Junior Weekend will begin at Tufts College tonight with the Junior promenade on the main floor of the New Physical Education building.

A Dramatic Demonstration of Progress and Confidence

Today's issue of the Boston American contains a twelve-page section of intensive sales promotion, sponsored by the Houghton and Dutton Co., one of New England's pioneer department stores.

So far as we know, this is the largest number of pages ever carried by a single Boston newspaper on an individual store's promotion.

What is more important, is the fact that this tremendous campaign is a dramatic demonstration of progress and confidence on the part of Houghton and Dutton Co. . . . Progress in forging forward for increased prosperity by stimulating the endless chain that links consuming with producing . . . and Confidence by taking this action at a time when such evidence of faith in Boston and New England is needed.

We Congratulate Houghton and Dutton ---The Patrons Who Will Benefit By The Values---And The Producers Who Benefited By The Store's Purchases

Greater Houghton Day is the BIG Sale in the Houghton calendar of 1932 events. It is the result of four months of intensive work on the part of the entire organization. We present it to you as a true representation of what you can expect of the Houghton's of today. A careful perusal of the sensational offerings on the following eleven pages is proof more conclusive than all the words that we could write.

Remember, one day only, Saturday, May 7th, from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.

Legal stamps given!

In addition to the lowest prices on record, we will give one Legal stamp with every 10c worth of purchase. You get $2.00 in cash or $2.50 in merchandise for each full book. Saturday is a good day to start a book. In fact, Saturday would be the ideal day to fill a book. Stamp desk, street floor.

Many items not advertised

Look for the Greater Houghton Day signs in every department. They point the way to the greatest savings in history.

Ample quantities

Except in a few instances (notably the 9 o'clock door crashers) we have huge quantities of each article. Of course, with prices so sensationally low, we cannot guarantee that quantities will last all day, but in most cases our tremendous preparations should be insurance against disappointment for late shoppers.

Time payments arranged

On most articles of home furnishings, only a small down payment is required and the balance will be conveniently distributed over a period of months.

See our windows

Hundreds of Greater Houghton Day articles will be displayed in our windows beginning Friday at 6:00 P. M. They're worth a special trip to town to see. Be sure to see them Saturday, if you can't Friday.

Please carry small parcels

3 to 10 days must be allowed for delivery of Greater Houghton Day merchandise. We will appreciate your co-operation if you carry small parcels.

Nothing sold to dealers

We reserve the right to limit quantities. Nothing will be sold to dealers.

Mail orders filled

We will fill mail orders only if postmarked not later than Saturday, May 7th. All orders subject to quantities on hand. No C.O.D.'s.

Phone orders filled

A staff of 50 experienced telephone shoppers will be on duty from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. Saturday. All orders accepted subject to quantities on hand. No C.O.D.'s.

1500 extra employees

We have augmented all our service facilities to that customary Houghton service might be maintained. Please be patient. Keep smiling, keep happy.

Open a charge account

If you have a charge account at any other store, we can open one for you at a moment's notice Saturday. If not, we suggest that you come down today (Friday) and make arrangements so that your charge account will be ready to use Saturday.

Comparative prices

In practically every instance the comparative price quoted is our own every day regular price... the price the article will be after Saturday. Believe your eyes! The savings are all we say they are.

The 9 o'clock door crashers

As you can see by reading the items, we are offering limited quantities (really odds and ends) of desirable merchandise at ridiculous prices. First come, first served! No mail or phone orders on door crashers, of course.

GRAND JURY TO DECIDE MEANS FATE TUESDAY

Washington, May 6 (AP)—A Federal grand jury today heard evidence on charges that Gaston R. Means received $100,000 on false representations that he could return the kidnapped Lindbergh baby and will announce Tuesday whether an indictment will be returned. When an hour the grand jury heard the well known allegations that Means received the money from Mrs. Edward R. McLean, mother of the publisher of the Washington Post, but failed to return the baby, arrested March 1.

Editor Osborn, 74, of New Haven Dead

New Haven, Ct., May 6 (AP)—Col. Morris Galpin Osborn, 74, whose work the last 20 years as editor-in-chief of the New Haven Register and of the New Haven Journal-Courier placed him foremost in the ranks of Connecticut newspapermen, died today after a long illness.

Grand Slam Homerun Put Woman "Out"

Ruffalo, N. Y., May 6 (AP)—Babe Arlett, who was playing baseball, made a grand slam and Mrs. Ida Moore, who was playing bridge, was put out at home. Arlett, playing with the Baltimore Orioles, hit a home run. The ball went through a window and knocked Mrs. Moore unconscious at the bridge table.

A grand lot of costly new Bolton Worsteds is going at

with two trousers

A couple of "bargain days" for a couple of hundred smart men who have a knack of knowing good things when they see them.

We're not going to ask you to believe any high-pressure circus stuff. You know how expensive Bolton Worsteds always are. We've told you that a brand new lot of them is going at $20. And when such "high hat" suits can be bought at such a low price, something's going to happen—something you shouldn't miss.

There's just room enough to tell you that there's a world of distinguished solid colors—exactly what most men want. All of them custom-styled in London. And every suit includes 2 trousers—a feature for which most stores charge extra. Make a date to be at Bond's today or tomorrow, if you want a good suit of clothes—and are interested in a sweet saving, to boot!

Use our new Ten Payment Plan

No extra cost—no interest or carrying charges. Simply pay $5 at purchase, and budget the balance over ten weeks.

FATHER FIGHTS FOR CHILD

Los Angeles, May 6 (U.S.) Her father fought for her father whom she does not love, ever having seen and also in the man and woman who have been father and mother to her since she was four years old. The girl, Strat, who she even in a heartrending courtroom drama.

While a Los Angeles lawyer from Seattle, Wash. father of the little girl who was taken away by her mother ten years ago was before the court today to oppose the appointment of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Dever as guardians of the child.

And while Strat and the Devers attempted to decide the troubling problem by cold law, little was to be said by the father and mother. She wanted to remain with Mr. and Mrs. Dever whom she has called "papa and mama" for eight years. They had cared for her since the death of her mother in 1924 and did not know the girl a father living.

The hearing will be continued June 30.

MOTHER, HEAR THIS PLEA!

The pitiful plea of a 13-year-old Chelsea boy for the return of his mother reached the Boston Evening American today.

One of his sisters is a patient at Children's Hospital, the boy revealed, another is at home and two tiny brothers are nearly in constant tears for Mrs. Flora Baer, 35, of Heard st., Chelsea, the boy said. She left home April 10.

"Please will you help me find my mother," the letter of Norman, eldest of the children, said. "My little baby brother is always crying for his mother. My little brother is only 11 months old."

"Please help me find her, because my father said if she don't come home soon he will have to send us away."

Max Baer, father of the family said he could give no reason for his wife's disappearance. "She is trying to keep the family together."

4 Ministers Back for Mines Inquiry

Pittsfield, Ky., May 5 (AP).—Four New York congressmen who investigated conditions in the southeastern Kentucky mine area were en route home today to report a committee of 21 Eastern ministers who asked the United States Senate to inquire into the situation.

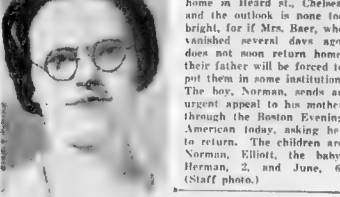

The Rev. William B. Sprague, group are the Rev. C. D. Smith said they would prepare their report to the Senate.

4 IN TRAGIC PLEA TO MISSING MOTHER

NORMAN, 10 ELLIOTT, 11 MONTHS HERMAN, 2 JUNE, 6

The four children of Mrs. Flora Marguerite Baer await what the future holds at their home in Heard st., Chelsea, and the outlook is none too bright, for if Mrs. Baer, who vanished several days ago, does not soon return home, their father will be forced to put them in some institution. The boy, Norman, sends an urgent appeal to his mother through the Boston Evening American today, asking her to return. The children are Norman, Elliott, the baby, Herman, 2, and June, 6. OVER 1000 FALL IN STICKER NET

"I couldn't find the time."

"The wife is sick. I had to look after the kids."

"I told the wife to get me 17¢ to tell her something when I got home."

These are three typical excuses motorists have offered to inspectors for not having safety stickers on their automobiles during State auto safety campaign.

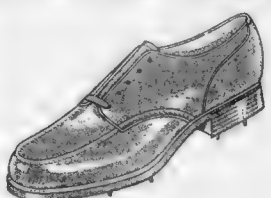

Motor vehicle inspectors counted their drive along the New York road, and the Police a road and it grew had caught more than 1000 machines without stickers.

At Register Plains, where a strip of sticks only were in use, more than 1000 machines were found without stickers in appearance of the registry to show cause why their license should not be renewed.

Today, in the real estate columns of the Standard, you will find some of the pictures of the State's inspectors.

It has been said that the average American's favorite sport has become the endless search of something for nothing. We don't believe it. Or else we don't sell clothes to average American men. Our customers seem to like our values, our service, our unadulterated, common-sense advertising. They could go elsewhere for their clothes and begin well, by paying less. But when they buy here they know they'll end well, months later, by possessing clothes of character.

THIS IS LIFE

BROOKS' EMERSON SHOWS EVILS OF HIS DAY ARE STILL TROUBLING US

By ROBERT E. ROGERS

READING VAN WYCK BROOK new and admirable book "The Life of Emerson" reminds one, in conjunction with the daily paper, how many of the matters which interested Emerson are still matters of daily concern to us. "The Life of Emerson" is not a life but a study of the man, in which the author apparently means to convey to us a sense of how the man lived, his daily chore, and the friends he made, the friends of old Concord, the group of cranks that surrounded him and that he refused to join, and the whole slow, natural, ripening process his genius underwent in his secluded study (with Whitman went over the door) and the woods and fields of Concord. As charming a book as I have read for a long time.

Emerson was not satisfied with his civilisation. He saw no use in hurried and impractical experiments, but he believed that foundation matters needed revision. Only the fugitive slave law roused him to something like action. In connection with that he made the famous statement, quietly quoted in another and quite as controversial a connection: "A bad law must be repealed, but a good one is not." It is not a good one.

What Made a "Barbarous Land"

There is, towards the end of his essay on "Civilization," a passage which is as applicable today as it was when first written some 50 years ago.

"But if there be a country which cannot stand any of these things, a country where knowledge cannot be diffused without peril of mob law and where the rights of the individual are where the postoffice is violated, mud-holes opened, and the State are repudiated—where liberty is attacked in the primary institution of moral life—where the position of the white woman is insecurely affected by the outgrowth of the white woman—where the arts, such as they are, all imported, having no indigenous life—where the laborer is not secured in the work of his own hands—where suffrage is not free or equal—then that country is, in all respects, not only but barbarous, and no advantages of soil, climate or coast can resist these suicidal mischiefs."

Not all of these indictments need still be answered. Since the Civil War the government has repudiated no debts, although we still owe millions to France since revolutionary times. The southern states, of course, repudiated their civil war debts, and certain states in the south, if I am not mistaken, have repudiated bond issues, notably Mississippi. But generally we are committed to a policy of non-repudiation and we expect others to pay their debts to us.

There is enough native-born and indigenous art to make an American culture, although in the fine arts, especially, we have a banking for foreign portrait painters and foreign "modernists" to the discouragement of our own. Our laborers, despite the contention of the Socialists, are reasonably secure in the earnings of their own hands. The law guarantees that. Emerson's case is not in talking about that difficult and mystical theory of "surplus value" nor did he intend to rule out capital and its necessary use.

Autocratic Postal Powers

Suffrage is free and equal. The primary institution of the social life (by which Emerson meant the family) is equally protected within the state, except insofar as divorce laws differ. Legally the white woman and the black woman have the same status, although the editor of "The Crisis" could probably put up a strong argument on this point.

How about the other points? Has there been an improvement. The spread of the generally accepted doctrine of Evolution is prohibited by law in Tennessee, possibly in another state. The teaching of certain medical knowledge, the demand and use of which is growing very rapidly is forbidden by most state laws and federal law as well, and reinforced by stringent postoffice regulations.

Are our mails free from violation? The New York Herald-Tribune said recently editorially that the postmaster-general controls the most autocratic power in the United States. He can change and alter his regulations at will, as in the recent case of the Freeman, hampering the publication of Haldeman-Julius' articles on President Hoover. He can deny second-class mailing privileges, thus ruining a publisher. He can issue fraud orders, thus ruining a business man. He can specifically forbid the mailing of any articles or publications he disapproves of. And there is virtually no redress. In this respect our postal regulations are medieval and autocratic.

From this it can be seen some of Emerson's indictment remain in full force after 50 years, perhaps even more stringent and less liberal, and that the others may be exempted only with many and important exemptions. The millennium is still far away.

He Saw Democracy's Wet Feet

I suppose it is all part of the disadvantages of democracy. Emerson said once that a monarchy was like a ship of the line, well built, fast, powerful and safe, but a shot under the water line could sink it with all hands almost instantaneously. On the other hand, he said, a democracy is like a raft. You can't sink it—but your feet are always in the water.

I doubt if Emerson trusted democracy very much. Sometimes he got sarcastic about it. About elections, for instance, the counting of noses. His idea was to assemble all the voters at the polls and have them vote by ballot. Let the greatest poundage win the election. In other words, the solidest citizens are probably the "solidest" citizens.

The radicals and the malcontents are usually light-skins. "You Coonies have a fat and hungry look; he thinks too much, such men are dangerous!"

Mr. Hoover would probably like the idea—but not Mr. Coolidge.

Emerson is still worth reading—more worth reading than many of our present day writers who deal only with the here and now. For Emerson beyond any American writer that ever lived was complete. He saw both aspects of life. He had one foot firmly in Old World, Massachusetts—which is to say, in our world—and the other just as firmly planted in the Infinite, the Absolute. He was on equally friendly terms with his neighbors and the Overworld. He saw his contemporary life steadily and he saw it whole—but he saw it, not as a mere statistic, in the white light of the everlasting and the real.

He might even have something wise and helpful to say about this entire series of ignominious miscarriages of justice in Hawaii. For he would be thinking of justice—and not merely of expediency.

WOMAN, BABY 2 DAYS IN WIDE OPEN HOUSE

Doors and Windows Taken Off by Landlord Because of Failure to Pay Rent

In a Peabody house from which two outside doors and all windows have been removed by the landlord, Mrs. Edna Hurley and her baby daughter, Edna, 3, have been left since Wednesday night. They are waiting for police or the board of health or somebody—to do something about it.

They are wife and daughter of R. H. Hurley, a war veteran who is a temporary job in Gloucester.

The doors and windows were removed as a means of getting the Hurleys out of the house because they are behind in their rent. The Hurleys say they were never given a chance to pay.

After dark a crew of men arrived and removed all the windows and the front and back doors. Mrs. Hurley hung clothes and papers over the openings and yesterday she found her trying to keep the doors and windows closed.

Records of the war against depression campaign, now being conducted solely by the National Employment Commission of the American Legion, show that the total number of jobs obtained for men and women up to noon yesterday, was 63,717.

This leaves a balance of 318,283 jobs to be obtained before the Legion reaches its objective of one million.

The Los Angeles post reported its 22 members had contributed 1 per cent of their salary month for ten months and had put 17¢ work for one week each.

CHAPTER XVII BY HERT FORD

Copyright 1932 for the Boston Evening American

A glimpse of some of the outstanding delegates to the Constitutional Convention of 1917 is given in the book published by Augustus P. Loring, Republican delegate from Beverly, from which we quoted in Wednesday's installment.

"Out of the 316 delegates who took their seats," writes Loring, "few died or were invalided, during the convention. The delegates who frequently placed in the order of the number of words used by them, were Underhill, Lomasney, George W. Anderson of Newton, Hart, Washburn of Worcester, Bennett, Edwin T. Curtis, Sawyer, and E. Gerry Hines."

"There is space in this chapter to make only brief mention of the few delegates who were most prominent or exercised the most influence. The 16 delegates at large, naturally, came to the convention with the greatest prestige. They were Charles F. Johnson of Boston, W. Anderson, John L. Bates, Charles F. Choate, Jr., George W. Coleman, Louis W. Loring, George W. Anderson of Newton, Hart, Washburn of Worcester, Bennett, Edwin T. Curtis, Sawyer, and E. Gerry Hines."

Martin Tells Scary Ours to Use Their Facilities

"About 50 members were really not much interested and seldom attended. The largest part of the 200 or so active members took part in the debates, many making speeches on one or many occasions."

A lieutenant of Lomasney said "He had seen something of the convention, got under way some of the delegates from the ranks. He said that they didn't think they were in the debate, many making speeches on one or many occasions."

Lomasney's Ancestors Sprang From Fighting Race

Irish historians report that the name Lomasney is a very ancient and rare one originating in South Tipperary and spreading into Cork. The Lomasneys and Kennedys came from Turbid, Tipperary, the home of Father Geoffrey Keating, celebrated historian.

DOYLE THREAT ARRESTS NEAR

Names of two persons who make threatening telephone calls to Asst. Dist. Atty. Frederick T. Doyle are known to police and arrests will be made as soon as they are found. Inspectors working on the case said today.

One of these doughs has been at home since early yesterday morning, while the residence of the other has not yet been located, but his usual haunts are known and are being watched.

The threats, which caused police to guard the Doyle home in town, were made by Doyle, who lives at 10 West Hobbs, and one children on their way to and from school have feared.

Police are still working on the theory that the doughs may have had some connection with the "white slave" charge, but a quick at Boston of this case.

Doyle, who is now in the custody of the St. Paul's Church, and others, refused the hearing board for granting the bail a permit.

WIDOW AWARE OF FORSYTH'S 'OTHER LOVE'

Admission that she knew her late husband, Frank P. Forsyth, was president and general manager of a union from which was living with Miss Lauretta Powers in Brighton was made today in a paper report of Boston today, by the widow, Mrs. Minnie Forsyth. Her testimony was given during trial of the suit for $20,000 brought by Miss Powers against the Forsyth estate. The wife, Forsyth, had agreed to pay, or this sum if not when not paid, he was the father of her daughter, Claire, now 11.

"For 12 years, Mrs. Forsyth testified, four married life was happy. Then he began to leave home and he stayed away for a week at a time. He finally took all his clothes out of the house and I learned that he was staying in Brighton with the woman."

FORGIVEN ON DEATH BED
The widow testified that shortly before her husband died she visited him in the hospital and when he told her he was sorry for what he had done she forgave him.

"He told me he was sorry for what he had done," she said. "He said, 'I am leaving the woman nothing. I am leaving you everything.'"

Miss Minnie Forsyth, 20 years old daughter of the deceased, testified in court today that she was at the death of her father, Frank P. Forsyth, in 1918, and that Mrs. Forsyth came to her in an upset condition and said: "That Miss Powers is acting rather familiarly with my husband."

When she heard Mr. Forsyth say, her husband was a loved man, she was very sad, for, in her own family, but that Forsyth only said:

Richard M. Powers, manager of the suit, testified he went to Brighton with Attorney Augustus, for the purpose of following the death of Forsyth, and when Vaughan asked Mrs. Powers if Forsyth had made any promise, she did not answer that he had not.

His name mentioned was against Mrs. Forsyth had made with her, Mrs. Forsyth testified.

Martin's middle name is Michael. He is about medium height, weighs about 170 and is a hair as black. He had the reputation of an able man in his younger days. He is strong and courageous enough to have himself in any emergency, but never sought trouble.

An associate of Martin's who has been literary sense, said yesterday:

"Lomasney has the courage and persistence of Grant, the thoroughness of Sherman and the dash of Sheridan. If identified with backing or military affairs Martin's pluck and thoroughness would carry him to the top rung."

FINES AND JAIL FOR LOTTERY
A fine of $2000 each and a year in jail was imposed on John Sweet of Boston, at Taunton and Worcester, at Billerica, by Judge Hayden, in Boston, court today, after he had found them both guilty of setting up and promoting a lottery.

Miss Mary McKenna of Sevin, at Taunton, arrested with them, was found guilty of being present where lottery tickets were found and fined $50. Mrs. Jeannette Sweet, wife of John, was found not guilty.

The four were arrested a week ago, when Sergt. Alfred Edwards of the Dudley, at police station, Taunton, accidentally stepped into the Sweet apartment and found 70,000 baseball pool tickets, together with printing and attaching machinery in the house.

THE FIRST "TEA-CARD" OF THE SEASON HAS BEEN received... here come the debutantes of 1932-33!

Prof. and Mrs. Julius Lowell Coolidge have sent out invitations to a tea with dancing to meet their daughter, Miss Theresa Reynolds Coolidge, on Thursday, May 26, at Lowell House, Cambridge. Prof. Coolidge is master of Lowell House, so the Harvard boys will not have far to go to meet this attractive "bird." Congratulations, Miss Coolidge! The first debutante of the new season!

Sea breezes wait the news that the Sam Warrens are returning from Europe... Mrs. Sam and her two charming daughters, Helen and Anne have been abroad for several months.

Mrs. Ezra Thayer gave a luncheon for Mrs. Hamilton Osgood before she sailed for England last week with her daughter, Mrs. Fiske Warren. Mrs. Warren will spend the next two months visiting her daughters, Mrs. William Whitman, who has been living in Bordeaux, France, and Mrs. Frances Lohp, who has been enjoying her grass widowhood somewhere on the Spanish coast.

Mrs. Hendricks Whitman Returns
THE BEAUTIFUL MRS. HENDRICKS H. WHITMAN (Adelaide Chaffield-Taylor) has returned from Paris without a decree and we hear she is undecided now whether or not she wants one. These girls!

Mrs. Arthur Litherly Devens... one of Boston's fairest... has severed her connection with an up-town interior decorating establishment and entered the gown field in a popular small hotel. Mrs. Devens has a "following" wherever she goes.

Tea Served

IT IS BECOMING QUITE THE thing to serve tea as a prelude to customers in many fields... We have received a card inviting us to a sale of cotton summer dresses at the home of Mrs. Roland Baker, mother of Mrs. Robert Winsor, Jr., at 11 Myrtle street, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 11 until 5 o'clock. Tea will be served under the auspices of the Boston Trade Women's League.

Mrs. CHARLES TANTOR, at about home on Beacon at those of the first Sunday afternoon musicals was given the past month a card inviting us to a sale of cotton summer dresses at the home of Mrs. Roland Baker, mother of Mrs. Robert Winsor, Jr., at 11 Myrtle street, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 11 until 5 o'clock. Tea will be served under the auspices of the Boston Trade Women's League.

Garden Day

THE GARDEN HILL GARDEN CLUB are doing a rushing business... if you get your meaning. It sounds like the old fish story to us where the well-meaning fish man goes into the local fish store for his catch. "Bless their hearts," what difference does it make except to the storekeepers?

IF A CERTAIN ESTONIAN is so careful the ladies are going to get him all tangled up in a ball of intrigue... he just returned from a "rest cure" and already Beacon Hill and surrounding towns are forming "rings" to help him. The offended spouse of the second part should calm himself... and make allowances for that "spring feasting."

COUGED FOR $8.38 'MAIL TAX'

(This is the amount as a series of articles exposing the tax collection racket, a form of legalized extortion, which is fattening the pockets of constables and victimizing respectable citizens of Massachusetts.)

Samuel Lamkin, constable, with quarters in Room 4, City Hall, Cambridge, filled out a tax demand, addressed an envelope, licked a two-cent stamp and posted it on the upper right hand margin.

His charge for the effort was $8.38. Profitable occupation. He didn't have to leave his desk unless perhaps to drop the letter in a mail chute or a box. But Lamkin hasn't got his money yet.

The citizen who received the demand had read the Boston Evening American's tax racketing exposure. Instead of writing to the Tax Editor he called in person. He was burning up.

such commission as this to Constable Bennett?

The kind of a family in Arlington, who made a personal visit

CONSTABLES MUST LIVE!

"I'm glad the Boston Evening American has interest in the welfare of citizens. It has always been fair and just. I received an income tax bill of $8.16 in February. I went to the headquarters on Court st. and talked with a tall man, who told me not to worry that everything would be all right. I told him I was out of work and had no money, but would pay as soon as I earned some."

"I went away relieved. A month later I received notice from an Arlington constable that if I didn't pay $12 and some odd cents I would have to go to jail. Surprised, I went and saw the same man I had talked with before at the State Income tax office. "He calmly told me he had never made such a promise. I told him if he hadn't given me this promise I could have borrowed the money at 10 per cent and paid it, instead of paying a constable a 50 per cent fee."

"He said, 'Constables have got to live.' I told him that citizens out of work should not be expected to support constables who had all the money to keep my family in food and shelter. He told me if I talked too much he would have me arrested and swiftly ordered me out of the office."

"Another installment in the tax collection racket will be published tomorrow."

SOVIET CITIZENS ARE TORTURED

Moscow, May 6 (AP).—A tale of tortures inflicted on 100 Soviet citizens by Russian whites after their arrest by Japanese and American troops in Manchuria was told today by a dispatch from Nanking.

Among the prisoners, the dispatch said, were a Chinese, a Russian, a Japanese and a wife. They were kept in prison for 100 days and then were taken to a Japanese prison in Nanking.

The dispatch also stated that the Japanese were torturing the prisoners and that they were being kept in prison for 100 days.

CANADA DRY ANNOUNCES A NEW POLICY IN NEW ENGLAND

Canada Dry bottles are now returnable. You buy the contents only—and pay your dealer a small deposit per bottle, which is refunded to you when the bottles are returned. This new policy enables you to enjoy Canada Dry at a lower cost than ever before.

New economy is now available to New Englanders who prefer The Champagne of Ginger Ales; and even greater convenience, too, by the new Canada Dry policy which goes into effect immediately.

Three New England plants have been equipped with the most modern machinery for scientifically sterilizing bottles—and the specially designed machinery required to manufacture Canada Dry—enabling us to make this announcement. Beginning today a fleet of de luxe Canada Dry trucks, operating from these modern plants and strategically located warehouses, will deliver The Champagne of Ginger Ales direct to retail dealers in the greater part of New England.

These local plants and new delivery policy will enable you to enjoy The Champagne of Ginger Ales at a still lower cost because you now pay for the contents only.

SPORTS SAVES LIFE OF YALE'S STAR BOXER

FANNING

With GEORGE UNDERWOOD
Year Around Wrestling, A Breaks Against Bambino.
Too Much of Good Thing, Among the Cauliflowerers.
Now It's Stuffed Bats! Halliwell's Early Test.

Maybe You'll Not Agree. Anyway, Giddyap Nap

The grunting and groaning that you heard in the Arena last night, and which echoed through Mechanics Building on Wednesday, will be kept up all summer out of doors. Paul Bowser will promote several big wrestling bouts at Braves Field and Charlie Gordon will run regular shows at Fenway Park. In addition, we understand that because of the cooling apparatus in the Boston Garden, Toots Mondt will continue to parade the Curley pachyderms in the North Station amphitheater. Some of the sports diagnosticians who have their finger on the popular pulse are of the opinion that the grunt and groan promoters are overdoing things. They say that with the grunting going on full blast summer and winter John Q. Public is going to get too much of a good thing. If the good woman should corner beat and cabbage in front of Fat every night in the week Pat soon would tire of his Red Mike and Violets. So are the grunt and groan addicts apt to feed the gentle art of wrestling necks if the promoter insist on feeding their grunts and groans three times every week in the year.

What are the most successful sports? Baseball, hockey, boxing, sports which have an off season. If the baseball race was a year long, do you think it would be possible to hold popular interest? If the football campaign were waged over a 15-month stretch, don't you think the football fans would suffer from ennui? Would they not get tired of the garden as they have been doing in hockey, if the hockey race took 12 months to decide?

Tre Richard was the promotional genius of modern times. In a fanning box he once remarked: "Seeing attendance certainly will fall off if they attempt to run weekly shows the year around. Weekly shows are all right in the winter, but summer boxing should be limited to three big open air attractions. In the long run boxing seriously will suffer if the public is going to be fed it every week in the year." Is what Tre Richard said boxing just as serious of wrestling?

Last week we blamed the early epidemic of over-the-garden-clout in baseball to the "leaping kangaroo ball." But it seems that we're all wrong, Mawruss, all wrong! American League officials have come to the bat with the statement that it's the same old ball, but what has added length to the drives are the new bats. It seems that the official bat makers have discovered a process of filling the wood with a substance which adds resiliency and driving power to the shillelhos. So it's the bat, not the ball. But, after all, the man behind the bat has most to do with it.

Speakers of the man behind the bat, Babe Ruth says that if the "breakers" hadn't gone against him he already would have had a dozen homers to his credit. The King of Swat says as far as the season he has hit at least ten drives which ordinarily would have been homers, but were turned aside by the wind, or otherwise made to act freakishly. He also says his bad knee has prevented him making the proper pivot and he isn't dumping the balls into right field like he will when his leg gets O. K.

Dan Carroll says it wasn't the fact that the date set for the Sammy Fuller vs. Jackie Hill fight was Friday the 13th that prevented Fuller going through with the bout, but because they believed and Fuller believed in it. Ernie Schaeff has rushed in where Berg and Fuller feared to tread. The Golden Bat will face Jack Gross of Philadelphia in Madison Square Garden on May 15, the date and place for the scheduled Fuller-Berg imbroglio. . . . Gross is the heavyweight from Philadelphia managed by Max Baer Hoff, leader of the Philadelphia underworld. . . . A year ago it was hoped Gross would fulfill the matchmaker's dream of a great Jewish heavyweight, but he didn't come up to expectations. Boston may yet bag what will be the biggest fistic treat of the season outside of the Sharkey-Schmieding match. . . . It is Ernie Schaeff vs. that other "bitting foot" Charlie Retzlaff. . . . But Retzlaff must battle Jim Braddock, a couple of others before the match with Schaeff can be made.

Out of the national amateur boxing championships staged this week perhaps will emerge a future world's professional champion. Jim Corbett, Jack McAuliffe, Paul Bernheim, Frankie Genaro, Jackie Fields and many other champions were products of the amateurs. . . . Tomorrow, at Madison, the athletic arena will get its first from Halliwell's early season form. . . . Some of the experts in this neck of the woods believe the Harvard fighter is in him to beat Gene Versalle in the Olympics. . . . That was a magnificent gesture Yale made in allowing Eddie Warren, its one-armed baseball captain, to get in the game. . . . But the expedition doesn't like it. They fear Warren will be injured and don't like the idea of Yale being in a position to say, "We would have won if we hadn't put our one-armed captain in the lineup."

KILKULLEN SAVES

KNOCKED OUT BY FEARY

By HYPER IGOR.

New York, May 6 (INS)—

When all is socked and done in a sumo-pure carnival, the heavyweights supply the thrills

Two of them were national and their boxing history with the an-guery of their battle for individual supremacy in Madison Sq. Garden

last night.

The thriller ended with a monstrous upset. John Kilullen, of Yale was knocked out by Fred

Feary of Stockton, Cal.

Kilullen being knocked out was a sensation in itself. It was the bandone. Yale man's manner of being wafted out of the picture which brought everyone's heart to his mouth and the stupid heading of a game, surely inured young athletes which made the folsa swallow them.

Kilullen had come back bravely in the third round and was forcing the fight when Feary sat over the right to the jaw which might have caused a tragedy but for one sane man.

When Kilullen was floored with the finishing punch he fell in a peculiar manner, his head being swayed strangely under his shoulder as he hit the floor. No one has ever seen anything more thorough ly. They carried him to his corner.

He was so limp that he fell off his chair. By the time there were a dozen A. A. U. Handy Andy chattered about the big boy, such one less capable than the other

They stretched the hapless boxer out full length on his back. Blood was running back into his corner, choking him, when Ray Arzli, from Feary's corner, suddenly saw the danger of the unconscious boy's position and he rushed across the ring, shoved the inexperienced side and jerked Kilullen into a sitting position, forcing his head down.

Kilullen Is Saved

CANTWELL HURLS FOR TRIBE AGAINST REDS

SHIRES MAY START FOR BRAVES

Cincinnati, O., May 6.—Manager Bill McKeehan nominated Ben Cantwell to go in the mound in the second game against the Reds today and prove to local fans that the Boston Braves are entitled to their place at the top of the National League.

Worcester, Mass. May 6.—Pitcher, native, gave "Red" Lucas the assignment of convincing the customers that the visitors are no better than those in the upper which they, stepped, 9 to 6.

Billy Urban, regular, Tribal, showed up on the horses with a split finger while Bill Akers played the position, and catcher "Plunk" Hargrave was added to the hospital list when he hurt his wrist hitting in the sixth inning.

Both injured players are expected to be available for duty today and there is a chance that Art the Great Shires may break into the lineup.

The defeat left the Warriors in danger of being ousted from the elite, but the Dodgers saved them by losing out the second-place Cubs.

McKeehan used four of his best mound boys in a futile effort to halt the Reds, while howling had to employ three of his ace to hang up the victory.

Today, in the real estate columns of the paper, it was announced that the Cantwell family had been accepted for the available (overseas).

11 OF W. G. A. GOLFERS ARE UNBEATEN

By BILL GRIMES
At the halfway mark of the W. G. A. team match season, only 11 of the players who have played in all three matches remain undefeated.

Three representatives of the Southern, Eastern and Western circuits have clean slates but only two Northern players have contributed three points.

Mrs. Henry B. Watson, The Country Club, Mrs. Raynor M. Gardner, another 36-hole park golf club, and Miss Eleanor La Bonte, Charles River, are the only undefeated Eastern District players.

An usual Mrs. E. H. Baker, Jr. is numbered among the undefeated. During the years she has been playing Mrs. Baker has been the most consistent winner in the association. And she has met with best that this district offers in the way of opponents.

Already this season, Mrs. Baker has defeated three of the outstanding players, Miss Mary Parkinson, Miss Rosemond Vahy and Mrs. Harry Dodge, a former Florida State champion. Sharing the undefeated honors in the Western District with Mrs. Baker are Miss Martha Brewer and Mrs. J. D. Woodin.

Mrs. Herbert H. Hicks, Salem and Mrs. Ames Stevens, Andover, are the only Northern players who have won all this spring.

Schoolboy Slants

By GEORGE W. GRIMM

That long awaited Suburban Jamaica's great athlete, will try to lead a hat of a Red in the Fagline in the first.

Cambridge, Mass. Cambridge Latin and Semora's H. N. V. place this afternoon. Two of the foremost schoolboy athletes in the state in the person of Daniel Lavin and John. Miggins, he's seen what should be one of the best games of the year.

In the Somerville game with Newton the latter provided an upset by taking Charlie Dickinson's Latin's one goal but well pitch for the high took a fall out of Cambridge Latin with Kelly on the sidelines.

But when these two boys are on the mound the game takes a different aspect. The fans will flock to this great battle.

STOCK MARKET

New York, May 6.—Stocks were steady with slight strength, after a heavy rally in the West. The early rally brought gains running as high as 5 or 6 points in several issues, but the market soon settled, which was well absorbed.

In afternoon transactions, special issues were mostly hovering around near highs for the session.

SOME BEAR COVERING. Some bear covering was seen as the result of President Hoover's message calling for better budget action by Congress. Holdings of a distressed to 3000 shares appeared on the early tape, but trading dulled later in the session.

Oils were mixed, weakness in the result of Dutch being the element. Standard Oil of New Jersey was strong, however, and gave the group support. Specialties like American Can, Union Carbide and Allied Chemical, which were under the most pressure in the early session, showed the biggest recovery. Auburn was selling like its old self, its gain being only fractional. U. S. Steel and American Telephone met offerings in the way up and held in check.

Outside markets were colorful. Bonds were irregular with government obligations weakening. Cotton and grains tended upward.

BANKERS ARE PLEASED. Banking quarters expressed confidence in the government. The new efforts of the Washington administration to handle the situation of the taxation and economy overhauling business and finance. Also, Wall Street found further encouragement in the weekly reports. The Federal Reserve board continued its aggressive credit expansion policy. It added $100,000,000 to the holdings of U. S. government in the past week.

The fact that the New York Reserve Bank made no further reduction in its discount rate of 3 per cent was not an adverse indicator for such action had scarcely been expected, with another week of hard under way.

THE FUTURE OF BROKERS. Theodore P. Pines and Co.—The fact that the market was not about to go ahead, nor consider a continuation of the market, would continue to defer commitment until further extension of a bottom.

Rhields & Co.—There is no change of a sales tax being passed by the legislature, as pressed from all quarters and at the same time an education campaign is launched by the state to show an attempt to draw away and vote it belated, if pushed aggressively, may have surprising effect.

Russell, Miller & Co.—The market is at an exceedingly interesting stage with a strong advance, but one place where constructive news would be sufficient to generate a broad and powerful rebound.

Newberry Co. Sales Show Big Increase. Sales of J. J. Newberry Co. for the first four months of 1933 in excess of $1,000,000, an increase of 100 per cent over the first four months of 1932, a gain of 23 per cent above those of like period of 1931, while sales for the first four months of 1932 were over 23 per cent in excess of similar 1931 period.

Wheat Has Rally After Initial Sag. Chicago May 6 (AP)—Grain prices averaged lower early today, influenced by Liverpool's quotations lower than expected. Generally favorable weather in domestic winter wheat territory was later a bearish factor.

Opening 1/2% down, wheat advanced 1/4% and sold off. Corn advanced 1/4% and sold off. The market held near the initial figures.

Cotton Higher in New York Market. New York, May 6.—Cotton futures held steady throughout the greater part of the day. The market was active trading. Prices showed gains of 1/4 to 1/2 points. May 1933 at 5.35, July at 5.71, October at 5.94. December at 6.18. January up 2 1/2 and March 33 up 3 1/2 at 6.33.

Playing Politics With the Safety of Our Children

THE school children of Boston are for in another period of crowded schools and portable shacks. The High Schools are today jammed to their capacity.

Superintendent Campbell informs us they will be utterly unable to accommodate the new enrollment of students this Fall.

Hence the portable, wooden structures, into which the innocent children will be packed, like the unbidden guest unworthy to sit at the master's table.

SOME of our alleged statesmen at the State House show less concern for our children than for

Pardon for Lieut. Massie Then Hawaiian Cleanup

Congressman Crisp, of Georgia, voices the true sentiment of the American people in calling upon the Congress to grant "a full and complete pardon" to Lieutenant Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., and his three fellow defendants recently convicted of manslaughter in the Territorial Court at Honolulu.

In urging the immediate passage of the pardon bill he has introduced, Judge Crisp puts the case for clemency convincingly when he says:

"It must be remembered that nothing was done by Lieutenant Massie, and the others convicted with him, until the men who committed the brutal assault upon Mrs. Massie had been tried and released on bail after the jury disagreed. This miscarriage of justice was enough to arouse any red-blooded American to desperation and temporarily destroy his reason."

Nothing was done by the Governor of Hawaii or any other Federal or local official of that territory.

Nothing was done by the Secretary of the Interior at Washington, or any other official of the administration except the Secretary of the Navy.

And all that Secretary Adams could do was to reinforce the protests he received from the commandant of the Hawaiian naval district against the appalling conditions in the islands and the indefensible indifference of the Government there toward those conditions.

Secretary Wilbur sided with Governor Judd by upholding his do-nothing policy.

President Hoover sided with Secretary Wilbur by preferring his do-nothing policy to the remedial action urged by Secretary Adams and Admiral Stirling.

Under these circumstances and in the light of these humiliating facts, is there a red-blooded American under the flag who does not understand the agony of mind and heart that drove to desperation the brave young naval officer who is the chief defendant in this case?

In view of the fact that Congress exercises complete sovereignty over the Territory of Hawaii, its courts and officials, Congress is the branch of the Government that should go to the rescue of Lieutenant Massie, Mrs. Fortescue and seamen Jones and Lord.

Congress should grant each of these defendants the full and complete pardon for which the Crisp bill provides by enacting that legislation under a suspension of the rules in both Houses.

Then Congress should proceed to clean up the Hawaiian Islands in general, and Honolulu in particular, by ridding the territory of the present cowardly and corrupt Government that pollutes it, and establishing in its place an American Government worthy the name.

Nuisance Taxes More Selected Sales Taxes Only Real Solution

Now it is proposed to slap a special tax on cigarettes, bottled beverages and amusement tickets in Massachusetts.

Why not sealawags and toothpicks?

Why discriminate against one commodity and in favor of all others?

Why not have taxes equal and proportionate, as the Constitution intended?

Taxes are a nuisance, at best. When they seek out one product, they become pernicious, unjust and burdensome. There is no one product that should be made to tote the load for all, like a burro up a steep mountain-side.

The national sales tax is the solvent. In this you have a single rate, an equal rate for which nothing is exempt except the necessities of life, which ought to be exempt. If you tax a commodity once, at its source, that ought to be enough, instead of loading it up with extraneous and unwarranted burdens measured only by the avidity of local Legislatures in forty-eight different States with forty-eight different viewpoints and forty-eight different degrees of intelligence.

Old Castle Square Passes

The Hotel Arlington—your remembered it for thirty years as the Castle Square—has gone into the limbo of past but not forgotten history.

The auctioneer's hammer rings where John Craig and Mary Young raised repertoire to a high art, where distinguished bloods and their ladies made merry in the Gay Nineties and where more than one Harvard undergraduate unctuously penned the name of "Charles W. Eliot" as his own on the hotel register.

First, the Bevere House, where Daniel Webster drank hot-bittered rum to his heart's content and entertained the bon vivants with precious oratory which (it is our misfortune) was never transcribed for posterity.

Next, the Adams House, where John L. Sullivan received the lead plaintiffs of the assembled throngs and Calvin Coolidge enthusiastically and unclouded carved the path to greater heights.

And now the Castle Square. But we must cheer up. We still have Custom House tower. Even if they do ask you for your credentials before they show you to the observation penthouse.

cattle. At least they prohibit cattle from being over-herded into wooden freight cars.

Boston may be called the Athens of America, but she can make no pretense to fame by jamming her boys and girls into temporary shacks and into antiquated schoolhouses with wooden stairways, wooden fire escapes and an absence of modern sanitary arrangements that would do credit to the aborigine.

That we have had no disastrous fire and no disastrous epidemic is due to the watchfulness of the Almighty and not to the assinine pinch-penny economy of our solons on Beacon Hill.

New York Day by Day :- By O. O. McIntyre

Thoughts While Strolling
NEW YORK, May 6.—Thought while strolling: Suggestion for play title: "Show Business." Lynne Overman can be Jack Whiting for a kick but com. They say John D. Jr. give such of his youngsters $2 a week spending money. Tammany's John F. Curry suggests the brooding eagle.

Quebec: "I'm one of the leading guitar swooners." Waterston Rotherick, a Chicago, Ill. boy, who made good in the city. One word description of Harrison Fisher—silly.

That grand trouper of yesterday, Kathryn Osterman, mother of Jack Cates, feasting palatine. Lucius Beebe. This generation's silk stockings. London, and Ad. D. W. Griffith's nose is like Emperor Paul's of Russia. Tall, ascetic Daniel Frohman has about the only beard left on Broadway.

His apartment over the Lyceum has a view of the stage below. A mid-gel in a Hispano. Dick Butler, Hell's Kitchen assemblyman, and his dominion gloves. He was the longshoreman chief who kept freight moving during the war, figured in Thaw's dramatic escape from Mattawana and prominent in the Paddy's market riots. Looks like a small town barker. What a wide forehead Pola Negri has!

Alto Lincoln's double—Erwing Galloway. Helen Rowland. The serenity of hanging bowls of light. Am Finchot, who novelized the drama of the 5th ave. department store. The ponderous bulk of Al Keller of the Ritz. What a fullback he would make! Blythe Daly and Blanche Sweet look alike.

Another of my favorite people—Frank Sullivan. And Pearson McCord who some say is my double, the flatterer. Sky into Blanche, she discus clown. And uncle of the beloved Lillian Lelch. In all my life, I've never met a sealer. Or talked to a contentorian. N. T. G.'s quick riddle.

Wonder if others read prose in jumps after reading poetry? What became of russet apples? Harry Von Hoven who made the Bronx dance marathon conscious. The beautiful night calm of Gramercy Park. And a moon's luminous glow over a world seemingly dead.

Dudley Field Malone and his beautiful and smartly styled blonde wife are New York taxi drivers' favorite fares. They all know the known as the Dean of Gramercy Park. Summer ducks he is seen walking around this hallowed neighborhood. Children know him by sight, stop in their games to rush to him and receive his pat and perhaps an imaginative yarn, made up on the moment. Although '78, he is alert mentally and physically and could still caper as Caddy in Ernie as he did 40 years ago.

A heart wrench for stayouts was provided this summer by the Garage Breast Line, composed of derelicts waiting at 3 a. m. for trucks collecting refuse from mid-town restaurants for Jersey Big farms. The handlers permitted the hungry to pick over the refuse for broken bread and meat—an economical salvage carried off to hobo jungles for that "gay cat" dia-podrica known as Mulligan stew.

A well traveled lady I know is a collector of ash trays, having souvenirs from all points of the compass. She does not indulge the petty pilfering of usual souvenir hunter but always tells the hotel or restaurant: "Put it on the bill." And they always do grate—save, of course, in that dear Paris!

One of the figures in the Broadway pageant is Johnny Ostrander, plump and scholarly box office man, long with May Irwin, Mrs. Fluke Oscar Hammerstein, etc. He is one of the best to beat the record in becoming independent in this extremely hazardous pastime. He uses an astrolological system, basing by signs of the Zodiac. He cannot commercialize the idea for he can only figure it out himself for himself.

Some low combs he bit brunched I imagine, writes to know if he has such persons as Zoe Gale, Zora Akins, Maxwell Anderson and Sherwood Boehdheim, and he has me so all-twitter that I can't remember if it is Lady Chatterly's Fan or Lady Windermere's Lover.

WHAT is responsible for this dismal, disgraceful condition which finds our children herded like sheep?

The cause of this is the refusal and failure of the Legislature to permit the city of Boston to borrow money outside the debt limit for the construction of new schoolhouses so badly needed.

The feeling of the Legislature for the city of Boston seems to be the same one of contempt which deprives Boston of home-rule and which refused the city of Boston its plea for succor of the suffering patients who lie in temporary cots in the overcrowded Boston City Hospital.

Three Ways to Help By Claude G. Bowers

THE LONDON TIMES, getting its impressions from pro-administration newspapers in America, is prone to ascribe our failures to ascend from the depression to Congress; where, as a matter of fact, everything thus far done that has served a good end has been done by Congress, and could have been done months before had it been called in extra session. There is a conflict of views and some confusion in Congress—highly perfectly reflects similar confusion in views and confusion among the people generally. We are living in panicky times. Assuming that mistakes have been made, the fact remains that there has not been Congress in generations that has concentrated so much upon its task. Nor has there been one in generations confronted by such serious and unprecedented problems. There have been more breakdowns among the members than in years.

But England thinks of the possibilities of Congress in terms of the English system—and the truth is that, in a crisis like ours today, we suspect the English system is better than ours. There is no such divided authority in England as in the United States; and in England there is more democracy than here. There are times when our Constitution seems not so perfect.

And the people passed upon it in the elections of 1920—and declared against it at the polls.

The new Congress has passed a bill calling upon the President to begin negotiations, through the channels of diplomacy and in an international conference, for the removal of these present barriers against international trade. For the Grundy Act has transferred our tariff policy to the field of diplomacy.

The President will veto the bill for the same President who forced this act upon the statutes remains in power after his re-election in 1933 by the people at the polls. Thus nothing is done or can be done.

In England when a government has been voted down at the polls it goes out of power, and the policies for which the people vote are speedily put into operation.

Huge Prosperity Loan Should Be Floated

And there is a third thing that could, and should, be done—a huge prosperity loan should be floated to raise the money for needed public works that will give jobs to the unemployed, and by restoring public spirit, put money in circulation that will help the merchant and manufacturers as well as the worker.

But should Congress decide on such a course there is no certainty he would have the courage to come to the aid of the people, and indeed there are reasons to assume that he would not.

Thus we have confusion in government, because we have conflicting powers in our governmental system, and these conflicts are obstacles to the forward march of a democracy.

There are three things that could be done to relieve the country's strain in taxes and unemployment. Under the Eng-

One of the three things that should be done under existing conditions is to reduce the tax and lower the taxes that are disastrous to business by ending the mockery of prohibition and taxing the liquor business—like most lucrative and arrogant in America today.
